Emerging Markets Equity Strategy

Quarter 3, 2026

Mondrian INVESTMENT PARTNERS

Quarterly Headlines

The MSCI EM Index returned -0.4% in the third quarter, as markets consolidated following the strong IT led gains of Q2. EM outperformed developed markets despite broader headwinds from rising bond yields and renewed energy price pressures.

South Korea (-9.6%) partially reversed its previous quarter's gains, led predominantly by weakness in the major memory names. In contrast, Taiwan (+4.8%) reached new all-time highs as expectations of an extended hardware supply shortage drove upgrades for the 'picks and shovels' AI beneficiaries. Latin America rose 3.9%, with Brazil gaining 8.2% ahead of the first round of October's presidential election. EMEA (+2.9%) also outperformed, supported by gains in South Africa and a recovery in the UAE.

The portfolio outperformed the index by c410bps, reflecting a combination of positive top-down positioning and stock selection. The largest contributor was positioning in South Korea, particularly the underweight exposure to SK Hynix, which declined by more than 20% during the quarter. The portfolio's overweight allocation to Brazil and underweight position in India also contributed positively.

At the sector level, the underweight position in IT helped recover part of the relative performance lost during Q2. Positive stock selection within industrials also contributed, partially offset by weaker stock selection within financials.

Mondrian's methodology is applied consistently to markets and individual securities, both bonds and equities. The Emerging Markets Equity Composite includes U.S. dollar based discretionary portfolios, measured against the Morgan Stanley Capital International EM or equivalent Index net of withholding taxes. The portfolios are invested primarily in publicly traded companies based in an Emerging Market, or deriving a majority of revenue within Emerging economies. Shares may, however, be listed on more developed exchanges.The MSCI Emerging Markets Index assumes the reinvestment of dividends after the deduction of withholding tax and approximates the minimum possible dividend re-investment, unless the benchmark is specifically described as a "Gross" benchmark.

This Periodic Update contains supplemental information which complements the Mondrian Emerging Markets Equity Composite GIPS compliant presentation. Additional information is available upon request.

A Bull Market period is defined as one in which the benchmark showed a positive return, and a Bear Market period when the benchmark showed a negative return.

Calculations for P/E, P/B, dividend yield and market caps are based on generally accepted industry standards. All Strategy characteristics are derived by first calculating the characteristics for each security, and then calculating the weighted-average of these values for the Strategy. The details of exact calculations can be provided upon request. All characteristic data provided is produced using Mondrian's accounting system data.

Past performance is not indicative of future results. An investment involves the risk of loss. The investment return and value of investments will fluctuate. There can be no assurance that the investment objectives of the strategy will be achieved.

Performance results marked "Gross" do not reflect deduction of investment advisory fees but are net of transaction costs and withholding tax. Investment returns will be reduced accordingly. Performance returns marked "Net" reflect deduction of investment advisory fees and are calculated by deducting a quarterly indicative fee from the quarterly composite return. The indicative fee is defined as being the effective fee rate (or average weighted fee) at the composite's minimum account size. Actual net composite performance would be higher than the indicative net performance shown because some accounts have sliding fee scales and therefore lower effective fee rates.
